NOTES ON THE USE OF THE DICTIONARY:

Headword (main entry, Lemma) = English language entries on the left-hand side of the dictionary. Headwords can be:
(a) single words (cable, berthing) or
(b) multi-word units (berthing accommodation, berthing alongside)

Homonym = words of the same form but different, or partly different, meaning (cable1, cable2, cable3, cable4 etc.)

Pronunciation = IPA (International Phonetic Association) transcriptions are applied

= (other forms of the word) = derivatives, spelling variations, abbreviations, related words

Part of speech = n (noun), v (verb), adj (adjective), adv (adverb), prep (preposition), prep. phrase, etc.

Sub-entries = multi-word expressions (all red-coloured):
(a) a word or group of words (adjective or noun) + headword (marked by the sign ~), e.g. supply ~ = supply cable; electrical ~ = electrical cable; preparation for ~ = preparation for manoeuvre
(b) headword (marked by the sign ~) + a word or group of words, e.g. ~ armour; ~ gland; ~

Usage labels: = Labels mark the register (i.e. maritime-related subject field) where the headwords (terms) or sub-entries are used; In this dictionary these include the following:

The terminal is now accommodating and handling the newest and largest Ultra-Large Container Vessels (ULCV).

Several compression fittings had been used in a very short run of pipe to accommodate valves and changes to the pipe’s diameter. The 22m tail was shortened to 15m to allow it to be accommodated within the test machine.

By now, the wheelhouse, the shelter deck, and much of the accommodation were filled with thick black smoke which was spreading and becoming more dense by the minute. As a result, the skipper ordered all men to leave the accommodation spaces, for good reason.

At 0630, a fisherman looked up the accommodation alleyway and saw thick black smoke coming out of one of the cabin doors. Although this vessel was fitted with a fixed fire detection system, there was no sensor in the accommodation area.

The Company’s Muster List is to be maintained up-to-date at all times and displayed in prominent areas throughout the vessel such as accommodation alleyways, wheelhouse, engine control room, etc. SOPEP - Example Only - Non Controlled Document

All the containers stowed on deck in bay 70 and the other bays aft of the accommodation block (bays 66, 62, 58 and 54) were hi-cube containers (9ft 6in high).

AIS base station

AIS /ˈaɪ əs/ (=Automatic Identification System) (n) (navig, safety) Automatic Identification System (AIS) - Used to help identify vessels, to assist in target tracking (based on Global Navigation Satellite System), and to improve quality of information available to OOW. AIS continually transmits the ship's own data to other vessels and VTS stations. It also continuously receives data from other vessels and VTS stations and, when linked to radar or ECDIS, can also display this data. AIS transmits: static data (MMSI number, call sign and name, IMO number, length and breadth, type of ship, location of position fixing antenna), dynamic data (ship's position, position time in UTC, course over ground, speed over ground, heading, navigational status, rate of turn), and voyage data (ship's draught, m hazardous cargo, destination and ETA, route plan - waypoints) (Seamanship Notes 2004); AIS is a navigation and anti-collision tool enabling the exchange of ship-to-ship information.

AIS shows that: the containeship is now moored near the Port of …., their ship was not transmitting AIS at the time of the accident., transmit AIS odšiljati AIS signal: their was not transmitting AIS, transmit AIS odšiljati AIS signal: The other vessel switched on its AIS shortly before the collision. AIS shows that: the containeship is now moored near the Port of …., deactivate AIS deaktivirati uređaj AIS na brodu: The Coast Guard detected a vessel deactivate its AIS while underway near the mouth of the Columbia River. turn off AIS isključiti uređaj AIS na brodu: Commercial fishing vessels are known to purposefully turn off her AIS in an attempt to hide their fishing spots. AIS transmits information sustav AIS odašilje / emitira informacije: AIS automatically transmits vessel information to shore stations, other ships and aircraft, including the vessel identity, type, position, course, speed, navigational status and safety-related information. maintain AIS in operation držati sustav AIS u stalnom radnom stanju: The regulation (33 CFR 164.46) in part states that all self-propelled vessels, at a length of 65-feet or more, engaged in commercial service and operating on the Territorial Seas (within 12-nautical miles of shore) must maintain AIS in effective operating condition, which includes the continual operation of AIS and its associated devices (e.g., positioning system, gyro, converters, displays) at all times while the vessel is underway or at anchor, and, if moored, at least 15 minutes prior to getting underway, with limited exceptions. US (33 CFR 164.46)

AIS base station (n) (shipping econ, logist) Station on land that receives messages that are sent AIS data (n) (navig, comm) podatci iz automatskog identifikacijskog sustava, podatci dobiveni od AIS-a: The 30,000 DWT containeship was underway in the Ligurian Sea as of 11:20 a.m. EDT on Wednesday, according to AIS data from MarineTraffic.com. The speed derived from his GPS fixing and confirmed by AIS data showed the vessel maintained her maximum speed of 12 knots until shortly before the grounding. AIS data and visual observation confirmed that the tanker’s speed was not excessive and it was not abnormally close. AIS data as of 15:00 UTC showed the vessel’s status as “underway using engine” but with the assistance of six tugs as it continued its voyage to Hamburg.

AIS display (n) (navig) prikaz u sustavu AIS: Based on visual monitoring of the movement of the ship’s mark on the AIS display and comparison to another vessel’s movement tracking display, it was ascertained that the ship was actually moving west-northwest in the traffic lane

AIS MOB device (n) (safety) An AIS Man Overboard (MOB) device is designed to be carried by individual crewmembers and used in the event of a Man Overboard situation or other personal emergency. AIS uređaj za otkrivanje osobe / čovjeka u moru: AIS MOB devices like the SEAANGEL SA15 AIS FLARE ECO, once activated, will transmit the emergency signal with the exact GPS position on internationally agreed upon frequencies that not only commercial ship crews are scanning permanently but also the U.S. Coast Guard and more and more recreational sailors.

The container vessel was being manoeuvred starboard side alongside with the assistance of a pilot and two attending tugs. The general cargo ship was alongside at Barking, London, port side to the quay. The vessel was port side alongside a berth which was perpendicular to the main shipping channel. Two tugs should be used alongside the ship until the undocking maneuver is completed.

Goods delivered “alongside” are to be placed on the dock or barge within reach of the transport ship’s tackle so that they can be loaded.

A short time later, a substantial alteration of course was made, which took the vessel from her planned track onto a heading towards the coastline, 45 miles away.

An alteration of course of just 10 degrees, when only 3 miles from the other vessel, was not enough to avoid a close-quarters situation. The planned track involved a 40° alteration of course just one ship’s length before the entrance to the channel. However, after having made an alteration of course of nearly 30 degrees to port, the port side of the fo’c’sle inevitably collided with the other ship, causing structural damage. The OOW knew that he had to make a planned 21° alteration of course to starboard 10 minutes later and, because the ARPA radars would not acquire the contact, he decided that the planned alteration would amount to a substantial alteration of course.
The vessels were very close as they entered a precautionary area where the cargo vessel made a planned alteration of course to port to head towards the next traffic lane. He decided to continue the alteration of course to starboard to place the yacht on the vessel’s port bow.

Soon afterwards, the second officer plotted the vessel’s position on the chart and initiated a planned alteration of course from 110 degrees to 118 degrees using the autopilot.

The pilot ordered the helmsman to alter course from 124º to 149º to port / starboard to place the yacht on the vessel’s port bow.

Immediately after crossing, she inexplicably began to alter course hard to starboard and turn back towards our vessel. The tanker’s master assumed that the container ship would alter to port on leaving the buoyed channel and pass astern, while Vessel 1 conveyed to Vessel 2 that it would be altering her course to port in order to leave the anchorage areas and proceed towards the Hormuz Strait.

This violent movement resulted in the timber shifting across the vessel about 1 metre, giving the vessel an \textit{angle of list} of about 8° to port. This caused her to assume an \textit{angle of loll}, and manoeuvring back alongside generated forces that made her “flop” from side to side. This change in list, called \textit{lolling} was often 5 degrees or more, which caused havoc with loading arms, hoses, and mooring lines.

The voyage to Brunsbüttel was continued with the approval of traffic control. Immediately on arrival at the Engine Control Room (ECR), both the chief and third engineers stopped the main engines without approval from the bridge and without knowledge of the navigational position. In this case, the drivers were routinely allowed to retain their vehicle keys and move their vehicles before approval was given by the crew. The vessel was taken out of service and was given approval to proceed, at slow speed, to her base for repairs before returning to service a few weeks later.

The extended communications chain led to confusion and the later restarting of engines without the master’s approval.

In this case, the drivers were routinely allowed to retain their vehicle keys and move their vehicles before approval was given by the crew. The vessel was taken out of service and was given approval to proceed, at slow speed, to her base for repairs before returning to service a few weeks later.

However, the third engineer should have sought prior approval and taken steps to isolate the cooling system.

Without gaining prior approval, the two men decided to remove an adjacent thermometer pocket in the engine’s cooling water system in order to ease access to the rockers.

beacon (n) (safety) = distress beacon In the system of SAR, beacons use radio signals to indicate distress. Each unit has a built-in transmitter and batteries. Two main beacon types interest the Coast Guard: an Emergency Locator Transmitter (ELT), designed for aircraft and an Emergency Position Indicating Radio Beacon (EPIRB), designed for vessels. Both transmit a radio signal when activated. Unlike most ELTs, EPIRBs transmit a coded message that indicates the identity of the beacon in use. A third type of beacon, which operates through the satellites for use on land, is the Personal Locator Beacon (PLB) class. (http://www.ccg-gcc.gc.ca/eng/CCG/SAR_Maritime_Sar#Rescue_Alerting)

The port has 21 berths for ro-ro, project cargo, reefer units, general cargo, and petroleum products. A small gas tanker was moored alongside a terminal berth; all mooring bollards were in use due to bad weather. A high speed catamaran (HSC) was scheduled to shift to an adjacent berth. A general cargo vessel loaded with timber, which was stowed in the holds and on top of the hatches, was on a pilotage passage upriver to her discharge berth. A car and foot passenger ferry arrived alongside her dedicated berth during the early hours of the morning. A container ship departed its berth and was heading on the outward passage with a pilot on board. The master manoeuvred the vessel clear of the berth and then headed on a north westerly course at a speed of 4 knots towards a reef, 5 cables away and marked by north and south cardinal marks, and then headed toward the departure channel. A high speed catamaran (HSC) was scheduled to shift to an adjacent berth. The vessel was shifted to another berth and subsequently to dry dock, as originally planned. The tug was able to reach her berth and moor up under her own power after the collision. By 1551, the ship had turned off her berth and was heading toward the departure channel. The master agreed to the pilot’s suggestion that he would manoeuvre the ship off the berth and turn her, and then that the pilot would take over to negotiate the locks and the river passage. Two tugs were assisting a container vessel onto her berth on a wide both to blame collision clause (n) (mar law) Clause in a Bill of Lading or charter party which stipulates that, in the event of a collision between two ships where both are at fault, the owners of the cargo must indemnify the carrying ship against any amount paid by the carrying ship to the non-carrying ship for damage to that cargo. This clause arises because, under American law, a cargo owner is not able to make any recovery from the carrier for damage resulting from negligent navigation but may instead sue the non-carrying ship which in turn seeks recovery from the carrying ship in proportion of his fault. This would render a carrier indirectly liable for a loss for which he is not directly liable to the cargo owner. The clause has, however, been held to be invalid in the American courts when incorporated with a common carrier.

Bow thrusters are auxiliary motors and propellers mounted athwartships at the bow, and employed to maneuver the ship sideways. The ship had two 2,000 kW bow thrusters. This seemed to work and the Master also deployed a bow thruster to stop the starboard turn, but it was too late; the vessel made several heavy contacts with the breakwater. The pilot ordered astern propulsion and a bow thruster to starboard. The pilot tried to use the bow thrusters to drive the vessel back into the channel. As we had now lost steering, a bow-thrust was ordered to be put on line as to aid in the control of the vessel. The master confirmed to the pilot that the bow thruster was ready for use. The ship was equipped with a 3,000kW bow thruster. The pilot operated the bow thruster to move the bow to starboard. The thrusters were ineffective at speeds above 5kts.

The principles of bridge resource management (BRM), such as consultation and cross-checking, are equally applicable to engine room operations, particularly during an emergency. Contributing to the circumstances that resulted in the collision was the inadequate bridge resource management between the master and the pilot. Poor bridge resource management by the pilot, captain, and bridge team, along with complacency resulted in more than $8 million in damage to the wharf and ship. Good bridge resource management should include diligent monitoring of the engine speed to ensure that the engine is responding and turning in the direction and speed ordered. https://safety4sea.com/ best practices of bridge resource management ustaljeni postupci upravljanja resursima na mostu.

buckling /ˈbʌkliŋ/ (n) (nav arch, marine eng) the departure of a plate, shape, or stanchion from its designed plane or axis when subjected to load or to strains introduced during fabrication, thereby reducing its ability to carry loads.

Hull girder strength and buckling checks are carried out on all critical sections along the entire length of the hull. The hull failed along the line of a welded deck seam close to the tank hatch coumings, causing buckling of the main deck and ship sides. An investigation into the accident determined that, among other contributing factors, the vessel’s hull did not have sufficient buckling strength. In hostile and corrosive environments the structural strength of the ship’s hull may deteriorate with time leading to buckling or structural instability.

https://ideas.repec.org/a/eee/ejores/v272y2019i1p132-146.html Some liner shipping companies add “buffers” at certain voyage legs to account for uncertain events that may delay the vessels throughout the planned voyage. However, for significantly large delays, the buffers are usually not enough to recover the vessel schedule. Also, an introduction of many buffers in the liner shipping network affects the network efficiency.

CAD CAM (n) (nav arch) The goals of CAD/CAM software in shipbuilding: supporting innovative designs and facilitating production; software for the complete definition of a virtual 3D model of the ship and for extracting the production/manufacturing information, including the hull forms generation, GA, NAC, hull structure, machinery and outfitting, electrical design and production outputs.

softver: In ship building industry, CNC and CAM are mostly applied to NC cutting and manufacturing of propeller and prototype ship model. Nowadays, 3D CAD/CAM software packages are the main tools in any shipyard or design office in the marine industry.
https://blog.cadmatic.com/the-dualistic-goals-of-cad/cam-software-in-shipbuilding While CAD/CAM products are particularly effective in designing everything from components to systems to entire vessels, the trends is toward comprehensive systems that allows ship designers, builders and owners to integrate design, trial and “cost crunch” a vessel before steel is even purchased.
https://www.marinelink.com/article/shipbuilding/mapping-the-future-design-693 CAD/CAM/CAE programs are invaluable assets to the designer, builder and operator of vessels of all sizes and dimensions. Not only do advanced programs allow for the creation of an efficient and cost effective ship structure and outfitting, they provide for enhanced manufacturing practices and techniques, and increasingly help devise a life-cycle maintenance and care plan which can tack profitable years onto a vessel’s life.
https://www.marinelink.com/article/shipbuilding/mapping-the-future-design-693 Building procedures, block subdivision, subcontracting, all can be simulated, visualized and tested with the 4-D Product Model even before the shipbuilding contract is signed.

The capesize index rose 118 points, or about 9.6%, to 1,343. However, it recorded its worst week since late August, shedding about 19.6% this week.

A dry bulk vessel above 80,000dwt or whose beam precludes passage via the Panama Canal and thus forces them to pass around Cape Horn or the Cape of Good Hope.

Capesize vessels generally serve deepwater terminals handling raw materials, such as iron ore and coal. Average daily earnings for capesizes, which typically transport 170,000 tonne-180,000 tonne cargoes such as iron ore and coal, fell $885 to $26,067.

A capesize bulk carrier was approaching port while fully loaded with iron ore.

The current market situation, the financial structure of the purchase, and future market expectations affect the level of capital costs.

The investigation found that ship capsized in extraordinarily violent sea conditions caused by gale force winds and a strong, opposing tidal stream. At one point the lifeboat capsized due to strong wind and waves. It is not yet known what caused the ship to capsiz.

A recent marine casualty, a vessel sank with loss of many lives. The second tug was quickly alongside the casualty and passed across three charged fire hoses. Type of casualty: Capsizing/Listing EMSA No. ... 3-2008

A recent marine casualty involving a large fishing vessel resulted in multiple fatalities and loss of the vessel.

In accordance with the RESOLUTION A.849(20) adopted on 27 November 1997 - CODE FOR THE INVESTIGATION OF MARINE CASUALTIES AND INCIDENTS a marine casualty is an event that has resulted in any of the following: 1. the death of, or serious injury to, a person that is caused by, or in connection with, the operations of a ship; or 2. the loss of a person from a ship that is caused by, or in connection with, the operations of a ship; or 3. the loss, presumed loss or abandonment of a ship; or 4. material damage to a ship; or 5. the stranding or disabling of a ship, or the involvement of a ship in a collision; or 6. material damage being caused by, or in connection with, the operation of a ship; or 7. damage to the environment brought about by the damage of a ship or ships being caused by, or in connection with, the operations of a ship or ships.

A bulker with 20 crew members onboard had suffered a marine diesel engine casualty that knocked out vessel’s main propulsion.

A couple of minutes later the casualty was sighted, it was a dis-masted yacht.

The Navy is investigating a casualty to one of the main propulsion diesel engines (MPDE) on board the ship. The MPDE will need to be removed and rebuilt or replaced altogether.
Casualty events are unwanted events in which there was some kind of energy release with impact on people and/or ship including its equipment and its cargo or environment. (IMO; www.emsa2018.com) Casualty events are classified in: caspizing/listing, collision, contact, damage to equipment, grounding/stranding, fire, flooding, hull failure, loss of control, missing, non-accidental events, illegal discharge, other.

catenary /ˈkeɪtərni/ (navig, seamanship) matematička krivulja kojom se opisuje oblik sidrenoga lanca dok je brod usidren (http://kb.rocona.com/kb/Scope_vs_catenary); a mathematical term which describes the shape of a flexible line (like chain) hung between two points (like the bow of your boat and the seabed); The sag in a line strung between two points https://www.ypiyachts.com/; the curve of the ground tackle lančanica, krivulja ovješenog lanca: a catenary is seen in the real world when a flexible line hangs between two points. It is the effect of gravity, a uniformly directional force, acting along its length. A typical example is the chain and rope connecting your anchor to your boat (http://www.petersmith.net.nz/boat-anchors/catenary.php) In moderate winds of 20 knots, catenary is obvious and a section of the chain lies on the seabed. A more serious scenario of 50 knots wind – the catenary has all but disappeared, and the angle of pull on the anchor is dictated primarily by the scope, not the weight of the chain. CAT fines (=catalytic fines) (n) (marine eng) using marine fuel with aluminium and silicon aluminijske i slikonske čestice u brodskom gorivu: Cat fines in fuel entering the engine will cause wear. The higher the amount of cat fines, the higher the wear will be. The recommended maximum acceptable level of cat fines entering the engine should always be as low as possible and maximum 15 ppm Al+Si for short periods. Cat fines are hydrophilic and emulsify readily on contact with water. Removal efficiency falls as water content increases. Maintain settling tank temperature above 85°C to aid settling and water content removal. Wear from cat fines in two-stroke engines is found in the combustion chamber on cylinder liner, piston rings and piston ring grooves, resulting in high wear rates and possible scuffing.

Celestial Fix (n) (navig) nebeska pozicija, pozicija dobivena astronomskom navigacijom: Due to the long time it takes to complete a set of celestial observations, advancing and retarding LOPs is a common feature of a celestial fix. celestial navigation (n) (navig) Celestial navigation systems are based on observation of the positions of the Sun, Moon, Planets and navigational stars. Such systems are in use as well for terrestrial navigating as for interstellar navigating. By knowing which point on the rotating earth a celestial object is above and measuring its height above the observer's horizon, the navigator can determine his distance from that subpoint. A nautical almanac and a marine chronometer are used to compute the subpoint on earth a celestial body is over, and a sextant is used to measure the body's angular height above the horizon. That height can then be used to compute distance from the subpoint to create a circular line of position. A navigator shoots a number of stars in succession to give a series of overlapping lines of position. Where they intersect is the celestial fix. The moon and sun may also be used. The sun can also be used by itself to shoot a succession of lines of position (best done around local noon) to determine a position (Bowditch 2002)

Certificate of Competency

Certificate of Competency (CoC; IMO CoC; IMO Certificate of Competency) is a document that demonstrates the holder's ability to perform a specific function or role. It is issued and endorsed by the International Maritime Organization (IMO) and is required for seafarers working in certain capacities on ships. The certificate is typically valid for five years and must be renewed periodically.

The certificate is obtained after completing a recognized training program, passing the relevant examinations, and meeting all the necessary requirements set by the authorities.

The certificate is divided into two main categories:

1. Certificate of Competency - This is the main certificate that is issued to a seafarer after passing the required tests and fulfilling the training requirements.
2. Provisional Certificate - This is a temporary certificate that is issued to a seafarer when they pass the required examinations but have not yet completed the training program.

To issue a Certificate of Competency, the following information is required:

- The seafarer's name and identification number
- The ship's name and identification number
- The type of function or role the seafarer is qualified for
- The qualifications and training completed by the seafarer
- The dates of completion of the training and examination
- The signature of the issuing authority

The certificate must be carried on board the ship and presented to port state control officials upon request. It is an important document that ensures the safe and efficient operation of the ship and the protection of seafarer's rights.

Examples of other related terms:

- Certificate of Registry
- Certificate of Qualification
- Certificate of Registration
- Certificate of Origin
- Wireless Certificate
- Sanitary Certificate
- Safety Equipment Certificate
- Provisional Certificate
- Certificate of Inspection
- Certificate of Approval
- Certificate of Class

The certificate of class is a document that provides proof of compliance with the requirements of the Rules for the Classification of Ships. It is issued by a classification society and is a requirement for ships to be allowed to operate.

The certificate of approval is a document that certifies that a particular system, device, or component meets the required standards and regulations. It is issued by a regulatory body or agency and is a requirement for the safe and effective operation of the system or component.

The certificate of origin is a document that indicates the country of origin of a product. It is required for certain export and import regulations and is used to determine the eligibility for trade preferences or tariffs.

The certificate of registration is a document that provides proof of ownership or authorization to operate a vessel or aircraft. It is issued by a registration authority and is required for the operation of the vessel or aircraft.

The certificate of competency is a document that demonstrates the holder's ability to perform a specific function or role. It is issued and endorsed by the International Maritime Organization (IMO) and is required for seafarers working in certain capacities on ships. The certificate is typically valid for five years and must be renewed periodically.

It has been said that its origin lies in the mediaeval Latin carta partita or charta partita or charta divisa, where an agreement was torn into two pieces and one half was given to each party. Proof of the whole contract was no doubt difficult if one party was obstinate - modern methods of photocopying the contract for each party seem preferable. A charterparty is part contract of hire (affreightment (supra)) and part contract of transport (carriage). The proportion of affreightment decreases as one moves from a demise charter, to a time charter and then to a voyage charter, while the proportion of carriage increases from a demise charter through a time charter to a voyage charter. Affreightment is essentially placing a ship at the disposal of another party, while transport is essentially the carrier (supra) taking charge of goods. Hire (infra) is the consideration paid under demise and time charters; freight (infra) is the consideration paid under voyage charters and bills of lading.

Charterparty bill of lading (n) (mar law) A bill of lading used as a proof of receipt of goods issued by the charterer who charters a vessel to the shipper or shippers for whom the charterer has agreed to transport cargo. (https://www.msc.com/shipping-glossary) Teretnica uz brodarski ugovor, teretnica koja izdaje uz čarterpartiju (brodarski ugovor)

Charterparty by demise (n) (mar law) = bareboat charter party A charterparty by demise is a contract by which the lessor (shipowner) places a ship in the hands of the lessee (the demise charterer) who assumes possession and control. The consideration paid by the charterer is hire, which is payable at specified intervals during the term of the charter. Under a demise charterparty, the shipowner appoints the master and the crew, although they are paid and controlled by the demise charterer. http://www.mindserpent.com/American_History/reference/Tetley_admiralty/Tetley_2004.htm

Charter rates (n) 1 (shipping econ, mar law) The tariff applied for chartering tonnage in a particular trade (www.euronav.com) iznosi najma broda, zakupnine, najamnina broda, dnevna najamnina broda, najamnina broda po danu: Charter rates are also affected by various other circumstances, such as crop failures and political crises. Under TC (time charter) contracts, vessels are hired for a specific period at a pre-decided daily rate. MidEast VLCC rates fall nearly 30 Worldscale points this week TC rates for dry bulk vessels have fallen considerably over the last few months. Chartering rates for Suezmaxes and very large crude carriers (VLCCs) have recovered rapidly in recent weeks after plunging to their lowest in more than year this summer. The gross charter rate is US$12,000 per day, minus a 4.75% commission paid to third parties, for a period of about twelve (12) months to maximum fifteen (15) months. (CMI) has attempted to bring about an international convention on the responsibility of classification societies without success so far. ... In May 1998, the CMI Assembly adopted Principles of Conduct for Classification Societies. These principles imposed certain duties and procedures and outlined standards of practice and performance for societies which adopt them. A year later, the CMI Assembly adopted Model Contractual Clauses for Use in Agreements between Classification Societies and Governments and Classification Societies and Shipowners, which define and clarify, subject to national law, the circumstances under which civil liability of the classification societies and their employees and agents should be regulated or limited. ... The classification societies have been in serious negotiation with European Union (EU) authorities to produce, if possible, a mutually acceptable directive on liability of classification societies. ...instrumental in the adoption of many important international conventions, e.g. 1) Collisions between Vessels, 1910.

Due to a defect, No.3 generator was unavailable for use.

The root cause of the spill in the MARS report appeared to be a defective bunker hose. High-pressure CO2 fire-extinguishing systems also warns against inadvertent discharge, due to defective cylinder valves. Against his better judgement the Master sailed with a defective engine into a Southerly gale. B/L bears no clauses or endorsement as to the defective condition of the goods or packaging, etc. There was no heading readout available because of the defective satellite compass. Serious damage may be caused by water leaking from defective turbo-blower casings into the cylinders via the exhaust manifolds. The fire was caused by hydraulic oil, at about 100 bar, being sprayed from the defective seal. Further investigations on board other vessels revealed more such defective lifebuoys that were accompanied by valid type-approval certificates. The findings revealed the following: absence of rubber gaskets in hatch covers * leaking double bottom tanks * draft marks and load lines not readable * lifeboat launching arrangements defective * lifeboat engines inoperative. The cargo had been loaded in a defective condition in that it was already heat damaged.

diesel engine (n) (marine eng) dizelski stroj, dizelski stroj, dizel motor: The first merchant ocean-going liner driven by a diesel engine was the Selandia in 1912. A diesel engine may be designed to work on the two-stroke or four-stroke cycle. The four-cycle Diesel engine is easier to reverse than the two-cycle Diesel engines as there are fewer moving parts to be changed in direction of rotation. The most powerful diesel engines in the world are two-stroke crosshead engines. • Dual-fuel or spark-ignited engines are already capable of operating with fuels such as methane and natural gas in gaseous form from fossil, biomass or synthetic sources, while diesel engines can run on liquid biofuels, biodiesel or e-diesel. https://www.marineinsight.com/ marine diesel engine brodski dizelski stroj, brodski dizel stroj, brodski dizel motor, brodski stroj: An important parameter for a marine diesel engine is the rating figure, usually stated as brake horsepower (bhp) or kilowatts per cylinder at a given revolutions per minute. inboard diesel engine nutarnji dizel motor, outboard diesel engine izvanbrodski dizel motor, 2 stroke diesel engine dvotaktni dizelski stroj: A slow-speed two-stroke diesel is usually arranged to operate continuously on heavy fuel and have available a diesel oil sup. The 2 stroke diesel crosshead engine works on exactly the same principle and cycle as the 2 stroke diesel trunk piston engine. Unlike the 4 stroke engine, a two stroke diesel engine does not use the piston to push out the exhaust gas, instead, air enters the cylinder around bottom dead centre and sweeps or the exhaust gas from the cylinder. 4 stroke diesel engine četverotaktni dizelski stroj: In a four stroke trunk piston engine of 1100 kw output, a hole was (burn) through a piston crown. medium speed diesel engine srednjohodni dizelski stroj: On a medium speed 4 stroke engine the oil is supplied to the main bearings through drillings in the engine frame to the crankshaft main bearings. high speed diesel engine brzohodni dizelski stroj: These ancillaries need electrical power which is usually provided by generators driven by medium- or high-speed diesel engines. low speed diesel engine sporohodni dizelski stroj: The 130 TBN lubricant was evaluated for 3 months in the Sulzer 6RLB90 low-speed engine of a container ship, which operated at 85–90 per cent maximum continuous rating. Medium- and low-speed gas-burning engine designs are offered by the MAN Diesel group, which cites successful experience with a Holeby 16V28/32-G (gas injection)

(https://www.history.navy.mil/); a narrow basin or vessel that can be flooded to allow a load to be floated in, then drained to allow that load to come to rest on a dry platform. Dry docks are used for the construction, maintenance, and repair of ships, boats, and other watercraft.

Suhi dok, Italian: bacino di carenaggio: After unloading the ship entered drydock to effect permanent repairs. During the short passage to drydock, all tanks were monitored and the ballast pump was continuously discharging the ingress into the fore peak tank. In the drydock, it was observed that apart from the large hole punched in the shell plating in way of the fore peak tank, there was no other damage. With company’s and class approval, the vessel continued on its short passage towards the discharge port, where, after unloading, she entered drydock to effect permanent repairs. The four main types of dry docking methods are as follows: floating dock, excavated dock, patent slip, ship lift. After discharging cargo at Warrenpoint, the ship proceeded to Belfast dry dock, where a full inspection revealed extensive structural damage throughout the forward third of the hull with 26 penetrations in three compartments. dwell time (n) (shipping econ, logist, mar law) Dwell time is the amount of time which cargo or ships, spend within a port. It is a key indicator of how efficiently a port is operating, how quickly cargo is flowing through its terminals and how long a ship is spending in port. The longer cargo is stuck in port, the more it costs shippers. (https://www.marinetraffic.com/blog/no-time-to-dwell/); vrijeme čekanja tereta u luci prije njegova ukrcaja na brod ili izlaska iz luke kopnenim ili rječnim putem; vrijeme čekanja broda u luci na iskrcaj ili ukrcaj tereta vrijeme čekanja (tereta / broda) u luci, indeks vremena čekanja tereta na ukrcaj na brod u luci: Typically, dwell time is the time taken for exports inside terminal gates to be loaded onto a ship and imports onto a truck or train. In addition to easing terminal congestion, shorter dwell times enable cargo owners to save on storage charges applied by port authorities. Dwell time doesn’t just impact shippers, but ship operators too. Container vessels operate on schedules and a delay in any particular port is felt across the service. The shorter the dwell time, the lower the vessel and marine terminal operating costs. https://www.marinetraffic.com/ Customs are working to reduce container dwell time at ports. https://www.hellenicshippingnews.com/efficient deckhand /ˈɛfɪktɪv/ (=E.D.H.) (n) (mar law) stariji / iskusni mornar efficient speed /ˈɪfektɪv/ (n) (marine eng) korisna brzina effort /ˈɛfərt/ (n) napor, pokušaj to make every effort pokušati sve, učiniti sve: If there is an unusual discrepancy between the shipper's figure and that disclosed by the vessel's loading ullages, every effort should be made to have the latter inserted in the bill of lading., make a good effort potruditi se jako: The crew made a good effort in tackling the fire but their work was hampered by containment difficulties.

e-fuels (n) (marine eng) ultra-low carbon fuels

(https://ship.nridigital.com/ship_jun22/infinium_electrofuel_sustainability); Electrofuels, also known as synthetic fuels or e-fuels, are an emerging class of replacement fuel for the shipping industry. They store energy from renewable sources gas in a liquid state and aim to provide a carbon-neutral solution for the industry.(https://www.ship-technology.com/features/a-greener-shipping-solution-the-power-of-electrofuel/), sintetička goriva, ultra niskokarbonska goriva, e-goriva: Leading electrofuel company INFINIUM has recently announced a partnership for the largest commercial-scale e-fuels facility to date in Europe. https://www.ship-technology.com/features/a-greener-shipping-solution-the-power-of-electrofuel/• Electrofuels (e-fuels) are a replacement fuel, using CO0 captured from industrial emissions combined with hydrogen produced by renewable energy. https://gcaptain.com

EGB (=Exhaust Gas Boiler) (n) (marine eng, environ) kotao ispušnih plinova:
"Un-burnt fuel and lubricants can also settle in the EGB, which reduces the ignition temperature of soot, while increasing a risk of soot fire

EGC (=Exhaust Gas Cleaning) (n) (environ, marine eng) pročišćavanje ispušnih plinova: The nitrate discharge data and analysis certificate is to be retained on board the ship as part of the EGC Record Book and made available for PSC if requested www.marineinsight.com

EGCSA (=Exhaust Gas Cleaning System Association) (n) (environ, marine eng)
An alternative means of meeting the IMO Tier III levels might also be to use Exhaust Gas Recirculation (EGR), although this technology has still to be further validated.

EGR (Exhaust Gas Recirculation) is a control measure for reducing engine emissions, particularly nitrogen oxides (NOx) and particulate matter (PM), by recirculating a portion of the engine's exhaust gases back into the engine's intake air. This helps in reducing the peak temperatures in the combustion chamber, which in turn reduces the formation of NOx. EGR systems are typically used in marine engines to meet emission regulations set by organizations like the International Maritime Organization (IMO). The system comprises a compact unit with a step-up gear coupled directly to the engine's output shaft. This gear arrangement ensures efficient power transmission while maintaining the required speed and torque characteristics. The system is designed to accommodate slight misalignments and damp out or remove torque variations from the engine, ensuring smooth operation and extended component life.

elastic curve krivulja elastičnih deformacija: The line in the right-hand diagrams connecting the maximum amplitudes reached simultaneously by each mass on the shaft system is called the ‘elastic curve’. The most significant masses in any mode of vibration are those with the greatest amplitude on the corresponding elastic curve.

electric /iˈlektrɪk/ (adj) električni electric motor (n) elektrimotor: Root cause/contributory factors Incorrect layout of sea-water piping directly over steering pump electric motors. The electric motors and components were successfully cleaned out with solvents, dried out and made fully operational in the anchorage by ship’s staff ...

electric power (n) električna struja, električno napajanje: The heavy seas washing over the deck rendered about 130 reefer containers without electric power. The engine room responded promptly to a 'low insulation' alarm and upon seeing the sea-water leak in the steering gear room, immediately turned off the electrical power to the motors and informed the bridge. Electrical power was isolated throughout the ship with the exception of the emergency fire pump, which had been started to provide fire-fighting water. At the time, all electric power was being supplied by the main engine driven shaft generator, and so with the main engine shutting down, all electrical power was also lost.
electrical power generation (n) (marine eng) proizvodnja električne struje: Marine Electrical Power Generation And Distribution electrical shortcut (n) (electr) kratki spoj: This caused an electrical short (cut), resulting in sparking and leading to high temperatures which caused damage to the cable insulation and fittings.

electrical socket (n) (electr) električna utičnica: Overloaded electrical socket and defective adaptor.

electrical spares (n) (sailing/boating/yachting, electr) pričuvni dijelovi za električne instalacije: fuses osigurači, bulbs žaruljice, terminal fittings stopice, soldering iron and solder nit za lemljenje i lemilica, tape - insulating and self-amalgamating vrpce - izolirajuće i samostapajuće, batteried for torches baterijski ulošci za svjetiljke, distilled water for topping up batteries destilirana voda za dolijevanje akumulatorskih ćelija, hydrometer (for checking battery cells) hidrometar (za provjeru akumulatora), connecting blocks spojnice electrical spark (n) (electr) električna iskra: Do check the Product and Material the halogen lamp. Either the hot lens or bulb, Safety Data sheets of materials to or an electrical spark from the lamp ignited identify if there are dangers associated the mixture, causing the explosion.

electrical storm (n) (meteorol) oluja s električnim pražnjenjem, električna oluja: elines for completing the ship/shore safety checklist: The operations should be suspended and all deck and vent openings closed on the approach of an electrical storm.

electrical supply (n) (electr) napajanje električnom energijom: About 40 minutes after leaving the berth the ship experienced a series of short power failures which interrupted the steering gear electrical supplies.

electrical system (n) (electr) električni sustavi: A complete failure of the vessel’s electrical system with the navigation equipment and the radio set is considered probable in view of the arrangement of the load batteries. After salvage, the main engine could be restarted, but all the electrical systems were damaged.

electrical tape (n) (electr) izolacijska traka, električna traka, električna vrpca: Following the incident the school’s instructors examined the flare firing mechanism and decided to place a band of electrical tape around it to help prevent inadvertent firing of the flare.

electrical wiring (n) (electr) električni vodovi, električno ožičenje, električna mreža: The insulation of electrical wiring should be checked at regular intervals. A short circuit occurred in the electrical wiring.

electric arc welding (n) (electr) elektrolučno zavarivanje: A standby vessel was in port waiting for her next tasking, so the opportunity was taken to carry out an electric arc welding repair to the bedplate of an alternator located in the engine room.

electric boat /ˈɛlektrɪk/ (n) (sailing/boating/yachting) brodica na električni pogon electric charge (n) (electr) električni naboj electric circuit (n) (electr) strujni krug: Check that electric circuits are in good condition and that fuel pipes are free from chaffing.

electric device (n) (electr) električni uređaj, električni aparat electric drive (n) (nav arch) električni pogon: The century-old Amsterdam canal boat Gerarda Johanna looks like a classic with wood paneling, but beneath its floorboards lies a high-tech underbelly: rows of lithium ion batteries, 66 in all, with an electric drive train powering its propeller.

electric ferry (n) (nav arch) električni trajekt, trajekt na električni pogon: When delivered later in 2019, the 70m electric ferry will be able to take up to 550 passengers and 75 cars on up to 3,600 annual trips in the rough waters between Landeyjahöfn on the mainland and the Westman Island, covering eight-mile route in about 45 minutes.

https://www.marinelink.com/news/iceland-electric-ferry-powered-abb-462829 The new electric ferry will feature a large battery pack (3000kWh) and is designed to operate in a fully electric mode for most of time, with onshore charging in both harbors, with an estimated average charge time of 30 minutes.

https://www.marinelink.com/news/iceland-electric-ferry-powered-abb-462829 During particularly challenging weather conditions, when the consumption of battery power may exceed the available energy, this electric ferry will use its diesel-electric generator set.

https://www.marinelink.com/news/iceland-electric-ferry-powered-abb-462829 The scope of ABB supply for the electric ferry also includes generators, transformers, switchboards, the Power and Energy Management System (PEMS) and the Energy Storage Control System (ESCS).

electric generation (n) (electr) generiranje električne energije, proizvodnja električne energije, proizvodnja električne struje electric generator (n) (electr) električni generator, generator električne struje D.C. electric generator generator istosmjerne struje electric heater (n) (electr) električni grijač: The oil is heated by steam (although thermal oil or electric heaters are used on other systems).

electrician /iˈlektrɪʃən/ (n) (electr, marine eng) električar (brodski), struja električar električar (brodski), struja electricity (n) (electr) električnost, električna struja generate electricity proizvoditi električnu struju

electric motor (n) (electr) elektromotor: There is at least one good solution where the boat has a single point hoisting/lowering system with an electric motor. The turning gear on a turbine installation is a reversible electric motor driving a gearwheel which meshes into the high-pressure turbine primary pinion. An electric motor can provide a drive with very low-vibration characteristics, a quality valued for warships, research vessels and cruise ships ...

electric motor (n) (sailing/boating/yachting) električni pogonski motor (za brodice, jahте) inboard electric motor nutarnji pogonski električni motor: The VETUS brushless electric motor does not use carbon brushes, which makes it whisper-silent and maintenance-free. At low revolutions, the efficiency of this brushless motor is considerably higher than conventional electric motors equipped with carbon brushes. The VETUS brushless motor also has a very favourable power to weight ratio. Another remarkable feature of the brushless VETUS electric motor is the very low number of revolutions (max. 1,250 r.p.m.), which means that it can be coupled directly to the propeller shaft, without the need for a reduction gearbox.

electric power (n) 1 (electr) električna struja: Loss of the ship’s own propulsion, electric power, steerage and manoeuvrability could be foreseen and eventually occurred.; 2 električna energija provide electric power opskrbiti električnom energijom electric-power unit /iˈlektrɪk/ (n) (electr) agregat električne energije electric pre-heating coil (n) (marine eng) električni predgrjivač electric propulsion (=electrical propulsion) (n) (nav arch) električni pogon:

Diesel electric propulsion allows the engines to be placed wherever is most suitable, as they no longer have to be aligned with reduction gearing .. Another example of the flexibility facilitated by an electric propulsion system is a semi-submersible rig installation whose gensets are mounted on the main deck and propulsion motors in the pon GE will provide the electric propulsion system with his partners Imesa and Nidec that will bring operational efficiency and excellent maneuverability to Seaside EVO largest cruise ships. GE’s electric propulsion solution consists of propulsion controls along with transformers, variable frequency drive (VFD) technology, propulsion motors and distribution transformers.

electric propulsion system (n) (marine eng, electr) sustav električnog pogona broda: Wärtsilä’s full scope of electric propulsion system supply includes an energy management system, a power conversion system, DC shore charging system, DC hub, eight electric motors, eight axial flow WXJ1100 waterjets, and ProTouch propulsion control system. https://Gcaptain.com electric pump (n) (electr, marine eng) električna pumpa, električna crpka, električna sisaljka: After fitting the new propeller, the contractor cast off and, while leaving the marina, pumped the bilges using the electric pump.

electric ray (n) (fishing) COMPARE ray Lat. Torpedinidae; Lat. Torpedo marmorata drhtulja, drhtulja šarulja, mramorna drhtulja, tremol Electric ships are powered by electricity stored in batteries, eliminating the need for fossil fuels and reducing greenhouse gas emissions. These ships are not only environmentally friendly but also offer quieter and smoother operations, making them ideal for sensitive marine ecosystems and urban areas near ports.

Electric vehicles operate without an internal combustion engine. Batteries provide the power for the ship.

Another crew member who went to his aid also received an electric shock from the same source and sustained a serious injury.

The operator of the car carrier involved in a major ongoing North Sea fire casualty, has revealed there were close to 500 electric vehicles on board the vessel.

A small amount of electric current that passes between dissimilar materials. Causes corrosion on the spars and rigging of many sailing vessels where dissimilar materials are in constant contact.

The bulk carrier's officer of the watch did not effectively use the electronic aids available to maintain a proper lookout. In most collisions and groundings, electronic aids such as ARPA, CPA and TCPA alarms, waypoint alarms and depth alarms had not been used.

electronic bearing line (=EBL) (n) elektroničko smjeralo: We have monitored or plotted their radar targets using the cursor or ARPA facility; taken a series of compass bearings using the radar’s electronic bearing line; and/or taken a series of visual compass bearings using the azimuth ring. Facilities such as automatic plotting, electronic bearing lines, variable range markers and radar guard alarms, are normally provided to assist the OOW. He checked the vessel was on heading for the next alteration of course position, which was indicated by an electronic bearing line on the plotter.

electronic bearing marker (=EBM) (n) elektronička oznaka azimuta: The ARPA is non-functional and the electronic bearing marker is about 20 degrees out.

electronic bill of lading (=e-Bill of Lading) elektronička teretna: India is now looking for ways to implement electronic bills of lading, electronic delivery orders, certificates of origin, letters of credit, and other trade documentation across all export-import transactions in India. https://safety4sea.com

Electronic Cargo Tracking Note (=ECTN) (n) Potvrda o oslobađanju od podnošenja dokumentacije za carinski pregled (za robu u tranzitu): These waiver certificates (also known as ECTN – Electronic Cargo Tracking Note) are required by certain African countries to effectively control, supervise and manage import/export traffic to the country. https://www.logisticsglossary.com/term/electronic-cargo-tracking-note/electronic chart (=EC) elektronička karta: The electronic chart displays the vessel’s ‘real-time’ position, course and speed. It also carries out different complex functions to help improve the bridge crew’s ‘situational awareness’ and can meld together radar imagery, ship information, chart activity and AIS information all into one view.

The mate was alone on the bridge, navigating with the aid of an electronic chart system while seated on the wheelhouse chair. The intended route had been prepared using the ship’s electronic chart display and information system (ECDIS) and the OOW selected the scale on the ECDIS display that closely aligned with the 12 nm range scale set He was primarily using an electronic chart plotter with a GPS input, although he had two radars and a magnetic compass at his disposal.

Electronic Chart Display and Information System (=ECDIS) elektronički navigacijsko-informacijski sustav, sustav ECDIS: The OOW was monitoring the vessel’s position on the Electronic Chart Display (ECDIS) but was not plotting the position on the paper chart. We have developed the Electronic Navigational Charts for the Strait (and our port) which can be used together with the Electronic Chart Display and Information System (ECDIS) for real-time navigation without the use of paper charts, were fully compliant with International Maritime Organization (IMO) requirements. The ship was fitted with two independent Electronic Chart Display and Information System (ECDIS) units.

electronic circuit elektronički krug: It is recommended to thoroughly check the vessel’s equipment, especially for the arrangement, configuration and adjustment of electronic devices so that errors in installation can be recognized in time and if need be already be dealt with during the sea trial.
electronic engine control (=EEC) (n) (marine eng) Microcomputer coupled with sensors and controls for fuel, coolant, and other on board systems, as well as self diagnostic ability.

electronic navigation (n) any method of position fixing using electronic means, including: radio navigation, radar navigation, satellite navigation. elektronička navigacija: Although she was equipped with an Electronic Navigation System, which would have provided waypoint alarms, this was not in use because the crew were not sufficiently trained in its use.

electronic navigation aids /elekˈtronik/ (n) (navig) elektronička navigacijska pomagala: It is essential that all mariners are not only trained in the operation of electronic navigation aids, but understand the weaknesses and how these aids should be used as a decision support system rather than a decisionmaking system.

electronic navigational chart /elekˈtronik/ (=ENC) (n) (navig) compiled from a database of information this chart presents the OOW with a vector chart. Information is built up in layers so the OOW can decide to exclude certain features in order to keep the view clear and simple.

elektronička navigacijska karta, elektronička karta: Using an electronic navigational chart within ECDIS, the OOW can monitor the safety corridor, safety contours, their own vessel GPS and its vector, any other vessels AIS and vector, the tide vectors and exploit the customizable menu. https://www.marineelectronics.com/news/ecdis-maritime-accident-255821 electronic navigation equipment (n) (nav arch, navig) elektronički navigacijski uređaji, elektronička navigacijska oprema: The vessel’s electronic navigation equipment, which included the electronic chart display and information system (ECDIS), radar and the bridge navigational watch alarm system (BNWAS), were functioning correctly.

electronic position fixing system /elekˈtronik/ (n) (navig) sustav elektroničkog određivanja pozicije: Navigators should use all available means to check the position of their vessel, but they must regularly verify the accuracy of positions displayed by electronic position fixing systems by reference to visual bearings and transits whenever available.

electronic range and bearing line (=ERBL) (n) (navig) elektroničko smjeralo za mjerenje udaljenosti i smjerova electronic range marker /elekˈtronik/ (=ERM) elektronički daljinomjer electronics (n) (electr) elektronika, elektroničko traženje tereta electronic tracking /elekˈtronik/ (shipping econ) elektroničko praćenje tereta

Electronic Trade Documents Bill (n) (mar law, logist, UK) he Electronic Trade Documents Bill concerns electronic documents used in trade and trade finance that are not considered capable of being (physically) possessed under English law. The aim of the Bill is “to have the same legal recognition and functionality as their paper counterparts”. electronic transport record (n) (mar law, math) information in one or more messages issued by electronic communication under a contract of carriage by a carrier, including information logically associated with the electronic transport record by attachments or otherwise linked to the electronic transport record contemporaneously with or subsequent to its issue by the carrier, so as to become part of the electronic transport record, that: (a) Evidences the carrier’s or a performing party’s receipt of goods under a contract of carriage; and (b) Evidences or contains a contract of carriage. (Rotterdam Rules 2009) električki prijevozni zapis negotiable electronic transport record električki prijevozni zapis an electronic transport record: (a) That indicates, by wording such as “to order”, or “negotiable”, or other appropriate wording recognized as having the same effect by the law applicable to the record, that the goods have been consigned to the order of the shipper or to the order of the consignee, and is not explicitly stated as being “non-negotiable” or “not negotiable” negocijabilni (prenosivi) električki prijevozni zapis non-negotiable electronic transport record an electronic transport record that is not a negotiable electronic transport record. neprenosivi

Electronic Unit Injector (=EUI) (n) (marine eng) An electronically controlled injector which depends on a cam and rocker arm mechanism to produce fuel injection pressure.

elektronički upravljan ubrizgač electrotechnical officer (=ETO; electronics officer) (n) (mar law) = electrical officer = ETO časnik elektrotehnike i elektronike na brodu, brodski elektrotehnički časnik: Electro-Technical Officers are specialist officers working within the Engineering Department where they take particular responsibility for the maintenance of on board control engineering and electronic systems including propulsion control, radio communications and electronic navigation aids. emergency communication

Emergency communication

Some of the findings related to passenger briefings and emergency communication brought to light by the investigation were: The failure to notify those on board of an emergency situation delayed emergency response.

emergency drill

Emergency drill – The frequent crew changes also meant that individual crew members had not carried out emergency drills on all the vessels they were expected to operate. Emergency drills should be designed so that crews become familiar with all that they may be required to do. Emergency-related activities may include personal safety familiarisation and training, planning and conduct of emergency drills, proper response to actual emergencies.

Emergency equipment – Ensure that everyone on board is very familiar with the emergency equipment carried: both location and use. Most of the emergency equipment, including ventilation shut-off valves and the emergency fire pump, were not properly maintained and no-one could remember when they were last t

Engineering Department

Comparing engine-room department

Engineering Department’s mission is to maintain and safely operate O’KANE’s engineering plant in order to support O’KANE’s primary mission as an instrument of national policy. The primary responsibilities of Engineering Department are to safely and efficiently provide propulsion, and generate and distribute electrical power throughout the ship. Additional responsibilities include: Fresh water distillation, steering control, damage control, drainage, and sewage treatment.

A Division

Auxiliaries Division maintains almost all of the ship’s auxiliary engineering equipment on board the ship. Known as A-Gang, the Enginemen (ENs) are responsible for the ship’s air conditioning plants, fresh water distillers, potable water system, sewage system, steering system, and galley equipment.

E Division

Electrical Division is primarily tasked with maintaining the ship’s electrical distribution systems. Additionally, the Electrician Mates (EMs) are responsible for shipboard lighting, cathodic protection, casualty power, deausing systems, laundry service equipment, galley equipment, and electrical tool issue and maintenance.

MP Division

The Gas Turbine Systems Mechanical Technicians (GSMs) and Gas Turbine Systems Electrical Technicians (GSEs) are primarily responsible for main propulsion and electrical power generation. The GSMs maintain four LM-2500 Gas Turbine Engines, and all associated equipment, in two Main Engine Rooms, necessary to provide and control propulsion.

R Division

Repair Division is home to a mix of Damage Controlmen (DCs), Hull Technicians (HTs), and damage control petty officers. It is primarily responsible for maintaining the O’KANE’s structural integrity and repair equipment. The Damage Control Assistant (DCA) provides general and specific training on proper fire-fighting, flooding, and other casualty response techniques. Every Sailor must first be a fire-fighter.

state of engine readiness stanje spremnosti stroja za manovru, stupanj spremnosti stroja za manovru engine ready for immediate manoeuvre (n) (navig) stroj spreman za neposrednu manovru: Own ship quite rightly in my opinion had her engine ready for manoeuvre, but, does not appear to have had any intention to use it.

engine repairs (n) (marine eng) popravci na stroju: My technical department at the time was fully engaged in carrying out a major engine repair ... The sea conditions were slight and the vessel continued to drift in a southeasterly direction towards the Moroccan coast while engine repair work continued.

engine revolution (n) (marine eng) broj okretaja stroja: About 10 minutes afterwards, the main engine revolutions dropped from 1400 rpm to about 1100 rpm.

engine room (=engine-room; engineroom) (n) 1 (marine eng) = machinery room = machinery strojarnica, brodska strojarnica: The duty engineer entered the engine room at 06:50 to man the engine room. The chief engineer entered the engine room at the upper level, without BA, to guide the fire brigade. 2 (marine eng) strojarnica, Italian: sala macchine; locale motore engine room access (n) (nav arch, marine eng) prilaz strojarnici: At 1450, the engine room alarm panel repeater sounded in his cabin, so he immediately ran the short distance to the engine room access where the panel was situated.

engine room alarm (n) (marine eng, safety) alarm u strojarnici: As the lift was being prepared, the engine room alarm sounded.
engine room bilges (n) (nav arch) kaljuže strojarnice: The duty engineer opened the overboard valve to prevent the system from potentially overflowing into the engine room bilges.

engine room bulkhead (n) (nav arch) pregrada strojarnice: Smoke was filtering through the engine room bulkhead and filling the wheelhouse, making it impossible to use the main VHF radio set.

engine-room cadet (n) (marine eng) vježbenik stroja, asistent stroja engine-room casing grotlo strojarnice: On leaving his office, he saw flames rising from the stairwell around the engine room casing.

engine room component (n) (marine eng) sastavni dio strojarnice

engine room crew (n) 1 (marine eng) posada stroja: Whilst the other engineer officers were engaged on various jobs, one of the engine room crew was cleaning the lube oil filters.; 2 (marine eng) član posade stroja: An engine room crew attempted to call the bridge, but received no response. An exhausted engine room crew once again opened, cleaned and boxed up the sea suctions (again filled with tiny fish) and the ship sailed from the terminal without any delay.

engine-room department (n) (marine eng) služba stroja: The Engine Department onboard a merchant ship is responsible for all maintenance and repairs of engines, electric motors, pumps, winches and other mechanical and electrical equipment. Job positions, on board a (US / Croatian, etc.) ship, within this department include Chief Engineer, 2nd, 3rd and 4th Engineer, Trainee Engineer, Chief Mechanic, Mechanic, Fitter, Oiler, Wiper and Engine Utility Man. Engine-Room Department - The modern ship’s propulsive unit, whether steam turbine or diesel engine, is run on oil, and the engine-room department is composed of a team of engineer officers and ratings controlled by the chief engineer, who ranks after the master. The modern ship’s propulsive unit, whether steam turbine or diesel engine, is run on oil, and the engine-room department is composed of a team of engineer officers and ratings controlled by the chief engineer, who ranks after the master.

engine room door (n) (nav arch, marine eng) vrata strojarnice: He shut the engine room door, informed the master of the fire and recommended that both main engines be shut down. It was initially assumed that the smoke was coming from the open engine room door. He shut the engine room door, informed the master of the fire and recommended that both main engines be shut down.

engine room double bottom tank dvodno u strojarnici engine room escape hatch (n) (nav arch, safety) grotlo strojarnice za izlaz u nuždi: The engine room escape hatch was locked from the outside. Assuming this was an Engine Room escape hatch then it would be best secured from the inside, thus allowing those attempting to get out to achieve their escape.

engine room fan (n) ventilator u strojarnici: Conscious of the need to isolate the oxygen supply, and potential fuel supply to the fire, he blocked the engine room ventilators, and shut down the engine room fans, main engine and generator.

engineroom fire (n) (safety, marine eng) požar u strojarnici: The fuel is supplied to the injectors through drillings in the cylinder head, dispensing with high-pressure fuel lines and removing a potential cause of engineroom fire. By now the crew, who had regularly exercised fighting an engine room fire, had blocked off the engine room vents, carried out boundary cooling on the deck using the hand-operated deckwash pump, and ... A containership suffered an engine room fire that left the ship adrift in the Caribbean Sea. https://gCaptain.com Containership Suffers Engine Room Fire at the Panama Canal https://gcaptain.com/engine room hatch  (n) (nav arch, marine eng) grotlo strojarnice: Back in the wheelhouse, the skipper closed the engine room hatch and instructed the crew to haul in the fishing gear and don their lifejackets. The engine room hatch was opened, and a hose was discharged into the engine room. The engine room hatch was opened, and a hose was discharged into the engine room.

engine room log book  (engine-room log) (n) (marine eng) dnevnik stroja: Marine engineers are required to keep a log of all important machinery parameters such as pressure, temperatures, revolutions etc. in the engine room log book. A sea protest must by copies of the deck log book and of the engine-room log.

engine-room personnel  (n) (marine eng) osoblje strojarnice, posada strojarnice, svi zaposleni u strojarnici: Engine-room personnel is fully ready to manoeuvre and bridge manned to relay engine orders.

engine-room rating  (n) (marine eng) mornar stroja, član nižeg osoblja stroja engineroom space  (n) prostor strojarnice: If engineroom space allows, the complete cylinder unit (cylinder head, water collar, liner, piston and connecting rod) can be withdrawn as a single assembly.

engineroom staff  (n) (marine eng) osoblje strojarnice, personal stroja: Two of the engineroom staff remained in the engine room and two went to the vehicle deck. The second engineer distributed the day’s work to the engineroom staff, verbally instructing the junior wiper to burn the garbage in the incinerator.

engineroom telegraph  (n) (marine eng) veza između zapovjedničkog mosta i strojarnice za upravljanje strojem; A mechanical signaling device for communicating propulsion orders and acknowledgements between the bridge and the engine room.

engine room vent  (n) (nav arch, marine eng) zračnik u strojarnici, ventilacijski otvor u strojarnici: …, the tug master and chief engineer went back on board and “cracked” open the engine room vents before returning to the rescue vessel.

engine-room watch  (n) (marine eng) straža u stroju: s tankers and bulk carriers employ dual-watch (poli-valent) officers (MarOff in the Netherlands) capable of keeping simultaneously the navigating and engine-room watch.

engine room workshop  (n) (marine eng) strojarska radionica: Making the ramp door operable A new set of wedges and small doublers was quickly fabricated in the engine room workshop and immobilisation and hot work permits were obtained at the next berth the following day.

engine skylight  (n) (nav arch) vidnik strojarnice: I sent my watchman to close the engine room skylight and inform the crew of the rain.

Engine speed is controlled by a mechanical or electronic governor with hydraulic actuator. The ‘heart’ of the system was a microprocessor to which the actual engine speed and crankshaft position were transmitted as output signals. Full load can be accepted swiftly and smoothly at any engine speed, says EMD, and a 10 per cent overload capability can be exploited for two out of every 24 h of running. A reduction in engine speed compared with the BL550 limited the mean piston speed and yielded the increased output with virtually the same brake mean effective pressure. Although a late order to increase engine speed and helm was given, the vessel made contact with the buoy.

Engine stores (n) 1 (nav arch) spremište strojarnice; 2 (marine eng) zalihe i materijali za strojarnicu

Engine switch (n) (marine eng, sailing/boating/yachting) prekidač motora (za dovod i zatvaranje goriva na izvanbrodskom motoru)

Engine telegraph (marine eng) strojarski telegraf: At 2340, the master moved the engine telegraph from ‘dead slow ahead’ to ‘slow ahead’; the tanker’s speed was about 2kts and it remained on an easterly heading. A load programme led to a delay between the setting of the engine telegraph and the engine achieving the speed intended. The Master was quickly on the bridge and moved the engine telegraph to stop. If the engine telegraph printer for some reason does not function, movements shall be recorded manually, in this case in the Bridge and Engine Bell Books. The ship’s engine telegraph was set to full ahead.

exemption /ɪˈzɛmpʃən/ (mar law) izuzeće: This vessel had missed two annual Load Line Exemption surveys. https://gCaptain.com pilot exemption certificate izuzeće od obveze uzmanja peljara (u luci): However, due to the frequency of visits to the port, one officer did have a pilotage exemption certificate. The master, who held a Pilotage Exemption Certificate, decided to swing the vessel at the berth because he did not wish to depart stern-first in such conditions., exemption clause a clause in a contract, which relieves the carrier's responsibility for certain events zaporka o izuzeću, odredba o izuzeću, klauzula o izuzeću (od odgovornosti), request for exemption zahtjev za izuzeće: The Flag State's process for managing requests for exemptions from international safety regulations was also found to lack rigour., exemption from izuzeće od Exemption Certificate (n) (nav arch, mar law, safety) Svjedodžba o oslobađanju (od zahtjeva Konvencije SOLAS) Exemption from Deratisation Certificate izuzeće od obveze predočenja svjedodžbe o deratizaciji exercise /ɪˈksɛriz/ (n) vježba, vježbanje: The evening before the exercise, a team briefing was held, during which an alternative exercise to the crossing was briefly discussed. revision exercise vježba ponavljanja exercise (n) upotreba, primjena exercise /ɪˈksɛriz/ (v) 1 vježbati, uvježbavati: The general health of officers has improved since they now have time to exercise and sleep more regularly; The retention of personnel is significantly higher as officers get better job satisfaction and are more willing to continue; 2 primjenjivati, prakticirati: As the vessel approached a precautionary area at 21 knots, Vessel Traffic Services (VTS) advised the vessel to exercise caution as three outbound vessels were ahead and intending to cross the TSS. exhaust /ɪɡˈzɔːst/ (n) exhaust system ispušni sustav / sistem: A simple yet efficient exhaust layout designated Daihatsu single-pipe (DSP) exhaust system recovers gas energy effectively by allowing a good match to the turbocharger., exhaust arrangement raspored ispuha, ispušni sustav, exhaust line ispušni vod, ispušni cjevovod: It is desirable that the engine room air should be able to circulate inside the exhaust line, the air outlet being located as close as possible to the end of the exhaust line. 1 (marine eng) ispuh, ispust, škarik: ... airborne noise is generated from the air intake, the structure and the exhaust. Flames came out of the main engine exhaust at the funnel and ignited waste oil that was lying on the funnel top.; 2 ispušni plin exhaust /ɪɡˈzɔːst/ (v) 1 ispuštati; 2 isprazniti exhaust analyzer (n) (marine eng) A test instrument used to measure the density of the exhaust smoke to determine the combustion efficiency. (http://www.marinedieseleurope.com/) uređaj za analizu ispuha exhaust and inlet system (n) (marine eng) sustav ispuha i dovoda zraka exhaust gas  (n) (marine eng) ispušni plin: The passages for the inlet air and exhaust gas are incorporated, as are the cooling water passages and spaces. As well as these, most oil tankers install inert gas generators which may continuously produce an exhaust gas containing nitrogen and carbon dioxide for fire extinguishing. exhaust gas emission emisija ispušnih plinova, ispuštanje ispušnih plinova: Because of the need to minimise exhaust gas emissions in this area, the ferry will operate primarily on LNG using two 9-cylinder Wärtsilä 20DF medium-speed dual-fuel engines.

exhaust gas cleaning system (EGCS) (=scrubber)  (n) (marine eng) SEE scrubber uređaj za pročišćavanje ispušnih plinova, pročistač plina (iz goriva), scrubber: Working with Euroshore, the association of European port reception facility providers, the EGCSA has been taking a science-based approach to the quality of scrubber washwater discharges. http://maritimeglobalnews.com/news/drive-scrubber-business-ckyyj8 The number of merchant ships with exhaust gas cleaning systems either installed or on order is approaching 1,000 ships worldwide, according to a survey by the Exhaust Gas Cleaning Systems Association. (2018) www.gcaptain.com Golden Ocean Group Limited (GOGL) announced it has entered into an agreement to acquire six modern 208,000 deadweight tons (dwt) vessels equipped with exhaust gas cleaning systems, or scrubbers, for a total consideration of $.... million.

exhaust manifold  (n) (marine eng) a device which connects all the exhaust ports to one outlet ispušni kolektor, razvodna cijev ispuha: Drain cocks in exhaust and inlet manifolds are to remain open when machines are at rest and should be regularly tested and proved clear of blockages. The engine room fire was probably caused by the ignition of lubricating oil that sprayed from a fatigue-fractured fitting on one of the main engine’s pre-lubrication oil pumps onto the hot surface of the main engine’s exhaust manifold.

exhaust pipe (n) (marine eng) ispušna cijev: If the oil mist meets a hot spot it can be ignited; it is therefore important to keep the insulation around the exhaust pipes in good condition.

exhaust port (n) (marine eng) The opening through which exhaust gas passes from the cylinder to the manifold. (http://www.marinedieselurope.com/) ispušni kanal, ispušni otvor: As the piston uncovers the exhaust ports on the power stroke, the exhaust gas starts to leave the cylinder. The opening and closing of the exhaust and air inlet ports are shown diagrammatically in the typical timing diagram.

exhaust silencer (n) (marine eng) prigušivač ispuha: Exhaust gas is conducted away from the turbocharger through the outlet casing via exhaust pipes to the exhaust silencer, then out into the open air through the stack or through the exhaust gas boiler.

exhaust steam (n) (marine eng) ispušna para: Exhaust gas is conducted away from the turbocharger through the outlet casing via exhaust pipes to the exhaust silencer, then out into the open air through the stack or through the exhaust gas boiler.

exhaust valve (n) (marine eng) ispušni ventil: The two inlet and two exhaust valves seat on renewable inserts in the head, those for exhaust service being intensively cooled and sealed with Viton O-rings. A nodular cast iron cylinder head, hydraulically bolted to the crankcase at four points, incorporates two inlet and two exhaust valves. exhaust valve cage kućište ispušnog ventilja: All water flowing across the cylinder head runs through the exhaust valve cages, significantly reducing the valve seat temperature. exhaust valve gear polužje ispušnog ventila, uređaj ispušnog ventila exhaust ventilator (n) (nav arch, marine eng) odvod ventilacije, odušnik: The vessel had been towing her twin rig gear for about 3 hours when the skipper saw smoke coming from the outlet of the engine room exhaust ventilator.

exhibit /ɪɡˈzɪbɪt/ (v) 1 (navig) istaknuti (svjetlo, signal), izvjesiti, podići (zastavicu): Many of these vessels exhibit NUC lights while drifting. Rule 3(g)(vi) allows towing vessels to exhibit restricted ability to manoeuvre signals if circumstances permit. In many regions, local regulations require vessels carrying dangerous cargoes to exhibit a flashing red light. Exhibit "Not under Command" shapes or lights and use sounds signals as necessary https://safety4sea.com/; 2 (marine eng) pokazivati (karakteristike, obilježja): Smaller turbochargers exhibit better acceleration and vibration behaviour. Another synthetic lubricant, Castrol 778, is claimed to exhibit excellent anti-wear and rust-protection properties supported by superior oxidation stability.

exit /ˈeɡzɪt; ˈɛksɪt/ (navig) izlaziti exit the lock izači iz ustave: As soon as the tanker had exited the breakwater, the pilot’s launch transferred the pilot to the container ship. Čim je tanker izašao iz ulaza pri lukobranu, peljarska brodica prebacila je peljara na kontejnerski brod., emergency exit izlaz u slučaju opasnosti, nužni izlaz, exit the port izači iz luke, isploviti iz luke: They should develop such procedures for preparation of the vessel to exit port that would ensure that the vessel would not be able to exit port not fully ballasted and they would allow the captain to conduct ballasting operation ..., exit the tank izači iz tanka exit (n) (safety) izlaz: The ferry’s exit from the harbour was delayed. exit door izlazna vrata, vrata za izlaz (u nuždi): Engineers and ratings should be fully familiar with all exit doors of the engine room so that in an emergency, they can evacuate safely., exit channel izlazni plovidbeni kanal: The exit channel from the terminal had a draught restriction and sailing was subject to a narrow tidal window. Vessels with a draught of over 10m must enter and exit the channel between the No1 buoys.

exit plan (n) (navig) plan isplavljenja, plan izlaska (iz luke, plovidbenog kanala, uskih prolaza itd.): Before you enter a channel, a harbor, a port, or any confined or restricted space you must have an exit plan. https://gCaptain.com exonerate /ɪɡˈzɔnəˌreɪt/ (v) (mar law) osloboditi od (obveze, odgovornosti): ... if a stevedore is injured on board, the vessel will be subjected to a very harsh inquiry/investigation and the authorities will likely exonerate the stevedore company of any blame and instead unfairly hold the ship liable for damages.

exoneration (n) (sailing/boating/yachting) iskupljenje (u regati) exoneration clause odredba / klauzula o povlastici, Klauzula o oslobađanju rizika / odgovornosti expand /ɪkˈspænd/ (v) 1 širiti se, proširiti se: The gases expand forcing the piston down on the power stroke. The liner will expand more and is free to expand diametrically and lengthwise. The clear description of the accidents, the analysis and conclusions, enable seamen to expand their knowledge. ; 2 povećati (volumen): These pistons have dish-shaped crowns that give a spherical form to the combustion space and are designed to be free to expand without causing undue stresses.

expanded square search (n) (navig, safety) traganje po proširenome četverokutu expansion /ɪkˈspænʃən/ (marine eng) 1 rastezanje coefficient of expansion koeficijent rastezanja: The parts made of brass have a larger coefficient of expansion than the other parts of the valve. ; 2 ekspanzija: A header tank allows for expansion and water make-up in the system. One benefit is that smaller turbochargers are required for the reduced gas flows; the lower scavenge ports also allow greater expansion in the cylinder and thus improve fuel consumption. ; 3 povećanje, širenje, proširenje: A major difference with the Miller cycle compared with a normal diesel cycle is the decreased compression due to the additional expansion of the cylinder load after IVC before BDC.

expansion bellows (n) (marine eng) rastezljiva spojnica, valoviti kompenzator, valoviti prigušivač: The company investigation found that the rupture of the expansion bellows was caused by an overpressure in the pump system between the suction valve and the delivery valve.

expansion piece (marine eng) rastezljiva spojnica, dilatacijski umetak: After slowing down, the leak was located in the expansion piece between the manifold and the blower in the top inlet, an extensive fracture of the bottom of one of corrugation.

expansion pressure (marine eng) tlak ekspanzije: The scavenge air pressure, exhaust gas temperature and compression, combustion and expansion pressures are continuously monitored.

initial expansion pressure početni tlak ekspanzije expansion ratio (marine eng) ekspanzijski omjer, stupanj širenja: The cycle efficiency is a function of the compression ratio (or more correctly the effective expansion ratio of the gas–air mixture after combustion).

expansion stroke (marine eng) ekspanzijski takt (u radu motora): Slow or late combustion of fuel during the expansion stroke commonly referred to as afterburning may cause the engine to lose power considerably. The opening of the exhaust valve can be delayed about 15°, thereby lengthening the expansion stroke and improving the efficiency and reducing the fuel consumption.

expansion tank (nav arch) overflow tanks used to provide for expansion, overflow, and replenishment of oil in stowage or cargo tanks ekspanzijski tank, ekspanzioni tank: A header or expansion tank is placed at a sufficient height to allow the venting and water make-up in the system.

expansion valve (marine eng) ekspanzijski ventil, prigušni ventil: It was reported that while this system was operating, the piping near the expansion valve began constricting flow due to freezing hydrates.

expel /ɪkˈspel/ (v) 1 istjerati, odstraniti; 2 istiskivati (tlačenjem): Intermittent rotation of exhaust valves is caused by the flow of burnt gases expelled from the cylinder. i.e lower piston, so allowing air under pressure, which is delivered to the scavenge space by the turbocharger, to flow through the cylinder and expel the remaining burnt gases. As the piston moves up the cylinder, the hot gases (consisting mostly of nitrogen, carbon dioxide, water vapour and unused oxygen) are expelled from the cylinder.

expenditure izdatak, trošak: As a result of the ship’s staff’s not observing the maker’s maintenance instructions and poor engineering practice, the company incurred an unplanned expenditure of nearly US$ 100,000.

expense izdatak, trošak: ... maximize the exploitation of the waste heat available in ships whose operating profiles and revenues can justify the added expense and complexity. He recommended that it should be renewed, but the owners were reluctant to take on the extra work and expense, and delay the vessel’s return to service. To avoid overtime expenses, few shipowners provide any assistance to the Duty Officer on the bridge after three days late, out-of-pocket expenses džeparac, at the expense of na trošak / račun (nekoga): Significantly lower NOx emissions are reported, as well as reduced smoke and even carbon monoxide, but at the expense of a slightly higher fuel consumption. ... the mate’s receipt was signed with the note, ‘Shipped on deck at shipper’s/receiver’s risk and expense, operational expenses operativni troškovi, pogonski troškovi experience /ɪkˈspiəriəns/ (safety) doživjeti, proživjeti, iskušati, pretrpjeti: Shortly after the contact with the foundation the ferry experienced a blackout. The ship left port in the early evening and, once clear of land, started to experience significantly stronger winds than were originally forecast, prompting the master to adjust the passage plan ... It was a last resort action as he had not previously experienced a similar situation and remained unaware of the fact that the port unit was misaligned. experience fire (safety) pretrpjeto požar, zapalit se, experience rough / heavy weather (navig, meteorol) proći kroz / doživjeti / pretrpjeto nevrijeme: ... the instructor of one of the RIBs decided to close on a cardinal mark post, where the water was confused, so that the trainees could experience the influence of rougher water.

experienced /ɪkˈspiərənst/ iskusan, vješt: An experienced and responsible deck officer shall be in charge of the forward station when connecting/disconnecting chafe chain; The experienced crew member leaned back to get a better view of what had become entangled, and, in doing so, his left foot slipped on the foottrope.

experience fire /ɪkˈspiəri/ (v) (safety) doživjeti požar, zapalit se, doći do požara: The ship experienced a fire in a mechanical space as she was pulling into Falmouth, Jamaica. While underway a towing vessel with six crewmembers on board experienced an engine room fire.

expiration /ˌekspɪˈreɪʃən/ (n) (mar law) termination of a certain period istjek (ugovora): This Agreement shall terminate upon the expiration of a period of,............. months from the date Ovaj ugovor završava po istjecu vremenskoga razdoblja od … mjeseča od dana …

expire /ɪkˈspaɪər/ (v) (mar law) istječi (ugovor, dozvola): the contract has expired rok ugovora je istekao ECDIS was not in use at the time of the accident as its chart licence expired.

expired certificate svjedodžba kojoj je istekao rok važenja: Furthermore, expired certificates need to be renewed before the vessel can be re-commissioned.

expiry /ɪkˈspiəri/ (1) (mar law) istjek (ugovora) expiry date datum istjeka roka (akreditiva, tarifa itd); 2 (safety, ship handling) istjek roka (trajanja): We recently replaced some of the sealed spare batteries and decided to test the old ones to see if they still worked. The expiry date on them is 2014.

expiry of laytime (n) (mar law) Moment when the time allowed in the Charter-Party for loading and / or discharging, as the case may be, has been used up. If loading or discharging, as the case may be, has been used up. If loading or discharging has not been completed, demurrage or damages for detention become payable. istjek vremena stojnica, istjek stojnica explosion (n) (safety) eksplozija: The explosion came from the ship’s boiler room, which triggered a fire onboard. the explosion occurred došlo je do eksplozije, nastala je eksplozija: Shortly afterwards, the first explosion occurred, spreading throughout the crankcase, blowing off the crankcase doors and igniting the whole of the lower engine-room atmosphere. Locked doors on a tanker mean horrific accidents should a fire or explosion occur. Approximately 25 minutes after the last tank was loaded, an explosion occurred and fire developed near the forward part of the cargo area. The ship was less than a year out of the shipyard when an explosion occurred in a cargo hold, explosion relief valve opustni ventil za slučaj eksplozije: Explosion relief valves are fitted to the crankcase to relieve any build-up of excess pressure inside the engine; explosion-proof (adj) (safety) protueksplozijski, siguran od eksplozije: A cargo light was used to illuminate the work area, which was not intrinsically safe/explosion proof.

explosives (n) (cargo) eksplozivi: Other 'illegal' goods or possessions can include weapons, explosives, pets, drugs in any form other than for medical purposes.

exponentiation /ˌekspə nɛnʃən/ a mathematical operation, written as bn, involving two numbers, the base b and the exponent (or index or power) potenciranje: 3 raised to the power of 5 3 na petu 3 squared 3 na kvadrat 3 cubed 3 na kub / 3 na treću export (n) (shipping econ) izvoz: The MAIB has already pointed out that there is a strong case for weighing unaccompanied lorry trailers before they are loaded for export.

An export declaration is a document submitted at the time of export at the export (https://www.flexport.com/) to engage in the export of designated goods to certain destinations.

An export licence is a government document which permits the licensee to engage in the export of designated goods to certain destinations.

An export rate is a (freight) rate published on traffic moving from an interior point to a port for transshipment to a foreign country.

Exposed port is a port for which the location of her destination port meant that she would have to eventually transit more exposed waters. Thus bare steel was exposed to attack by the corrosive cargo.

Exposed dwell time fee is a fee for containers lingering in the terminal.
extension (n) 1 (marine eng) produžetak, proširenje: They inserted the fan extension hose into the tank and vacated the area. Winch brakes need to be applied tightly, and using a wheel spanner or extension bar to get added purchase may be necessary. This is an extension of US Coastguard directives which required all tonnage visiting US ports to display diagrams of their fuel loading, transfer and storage; 2 (shipping econ) produženje (vremena, roka): A further extension of maintenance intervals can be secured by plasma (ceramic) coating or chrome plating the surface of the uppermost piston ring.
extent (n) to a greater extent u velikoj mjeri 1 obim: To determine the extent of flooding, the skipper checked the fish room and found water at the same level as that in the engine room.; 2 veličina; 3 razmjer; 4 stupanj; 5 opseg, obim: The full extent of the damage to the smaller vessel was not realised until some time after the collision.; 6 mjera to some extent u izvjesnoj mjeri, donekle: … the pilot was left with little room for manoeuvre or time for critical decision making, and the grounding of the vessel became to some extent inevitable., to such an extent that do te mjere da, toliko da: The bolts were wasted to such an extent that the threaded parts were reduced to 50% of their original diameter., to the extent that do te mjere da: The OOW had become over-confident in his ability, to the extent that he was prepared to stretch the parameters within which the master had permitted him to operate autonomously. The bolts were wasted to such an extent that the threaded parts were reduced to 50% of their original diameter.; to the full extent u punoj mjeri: In such situations, the use and handling of AIS information becomes more difficult, and the AIS can not be used to its full extent, thus losing its meaning to the navigator.
externally (adv) (marine eng) izvana, s vanjske strane: Modern turbochargers with externally lubricated journal bearings have uncooled casings. The chamber is drained externally by a tap and cleaned without risk of contaminating the lubricating oil system.
extinguish /ɪkˈstɪŋgwɪʃ/ (v) (safety) ugasiti, pogasiti extinguish fire ugasiti požar: The fire on board has been extinguished by crewmembers. The fire was fully extinguished within about and hour. The master decided it would be necessary to operate the engine room CO2 system to extinguish the fire. Attempts to extinguish fires in accommodation and engine room failed. Crew members were able to extinguish the fire and no injuries were reported, but the vessel remains without propulsion and adrift some 100 miles off the coast. http://gcaptain.com The fire was extinguished following activation of the CO2 smothering system. was extinguished following activation of the CO2 smothering system Fire was extinguished following activation of the CO2 smothering system, https://safety4sea.com/, extinguish the light ugasiti (navigacijsko) svjetlo: The question of whether or not to extinguish the side lights once the vessel was no longer making way then arose.
extinguished light (n) (navig) ugaseno svjetlo, pogašeno svjetlo extinguisher /ɪkˈstɪŋgwɪʃər/ (n) (safety) aparat za gašenje požara, protupožarni aparat: The chief engineer attempted to fight the fire using an extinguisher, but was quickly driven back into the ECR. The skipper took an extinguisher from the wheelhouse and operated it through the emergency escape hatch. portable extinguisher prijenosni protupožarni aparat, ručni aparat za gašenje: The ETO immediately grabbed the closest portable extinguisher, which happened to be the 45ltr foam extinguisher, and put the fire out., water extinguisher protupožarni aparat na vodu: The second engineer had more success, and tackled the fire with a water extinguisher., foam extinguisher protupožarni aparat na pjenu: The AB immediately unplugged the fan and fought the fire using a foam extinguisher located in the adjacent alleyway., CO2 extinguisher; carbon dioxide extinguisher protupožarni aparat
They were able to enter the compartment and discharge their CO2 extinguisher, but they were beaten back by the smoke. The crew put out the fire by using a portable CO2 extinguisher. The fire was subsequently extinguished using a dry-chemical fire extinguisher. Following an unsuccessful attempt to fight the fire with a portable dry powder extinguisher, the engines were shut down and the air vents closed.

https://www.indiamart.com/proddetail/fire-extinguisher-4540933112.html, fire extinguisher aparat za gašenje požara, protupožarni aparat: He fetched a fire extinguisher from the forepeak and with 3-4 blasts put the fire out. The brake shoe on one of the aft captive drums caught fire as the winch paid out, and it had to be tackled with a fire extinguisher.

extinguishing (n) (safety) extinguishing agent sredstvo / agens za gašenje: At least the cargo holds intended for the carriage of dangerous goods should be equipped such that they contain the possibility to use water as an extinguishing agent or for cooling via a permanently installed system as well., dry chemical extinguishing system sistem za gašenje požara suhom pjenom: Dry chemical extinguishing systems are designed to combat Class B (flammable liquids and gases) and Class C (electrical) fires., foam extinguishing system sistem gašenja požara pjenom: Fixed foam extinguishing systems are used to smoother flammable liquid fires., gas extinguishing system sistem gašenja požara plinovima: Gas extinguishing systems have proved to be most efficient in enclosed spaces, such as machinery rooms, electrical panels and cargo holds., fire extinguishing appliances uređaji za gašenje, protupožarni uređaji: What fire extinguishing appliances are available on board ship?

gašenje extract (v) 1 izvaditi, ekstrahirati; 2 istisnuti; 3 izvući: Heating of sludge oil tanks, waste oil and oily water bilge tanks in order to extract water. Their surfaces are curved to extract the maximum amount of energy from the exhaust gases and transfer it to the turbine shaft.

COMPARE container load Full Container Load – means that the container has cargo that is shipped by one shipper for delivery to one consignee. FCL is one of the Container Service Types in shipping. In a FCL shipment the shipper usually packs its goods in the container and seals it.; sav teret u kontejneru glasi na istoga primatelja.; Quantity of cargo, which fills a shipping container to capacity, either by weight or cubic measurement.; an ocean shipment in which the cargo occupies a full container (of any size) (https://www.flexport.com/glossary/full-container-load/) izravna kontejnerska pošiljka, direktna kontejnerska pošiljka: FCL is cheaper than LCL LCL costs more than FCL per unit of freight. That’s because freight agents prefer a full container load rather than to figure out how to bundle many LCL shipments in a full container. FCL gets delivered more quickly than LCL.

FCL allowance (n) (mar law, shipping econ) Deduction from the FCL freight provided by a shipping line or liner conference to a shipper who loads a minimum number of tons or cubic meters of cargo into a shipping container. There may be various allowances depending on the degree of utilization of the container. feathering mechanism (n) (sailing/boating/yachting) mehanizam elastičnog propelera feathering propeller /ˈfeðəriŋ/ (=feather propeller) (n) (sailing/boating/yachting) COMPARE folding propeller COMPARE fixed propeller Feathering props are one of the best propellers for sailing boats when mixing performance under sail and power. they get their name due to the feathering blades, which align with water flow when in neutral. (http://myboatsgear.com/2016/12/27/sailboat-propellers/); an automatically self-pitching feathering propeller which varies its pitch depending on the operating conditions, thus maintaining maximum efficiency at all times. ... The blades automatically adjust their pitch to match the engine torque to the varying load conditions. (https://kingpropulsion.com/autoprop/); A propeller whose blades have been rotated so that the leading and trailing edges are nearly parallel with the aircraft flight path to stop or minimize drag and engine rotation.; Feathering props have blades that rotate 180 degrees so the leading edge is still the leading edge in reverse, which makes them more efficient in reverse over folding and fixed propellers. (http://myboatsgear.com/) sklopivi prekretni propeler (s krilima u liniji kretanja jedrilice), sklopivi propeler s promjenjivim korakom lopatica: The Max-Prop feathering propeller had excellent stopping power, but needed rebuilding three times in 18 years. The Flexofold was sized to match the new smaller 75-horsepower engine.

The advantages of the Max-Prop are very little drag when sailing as the prop instantly feathers unless the engine is engaged, no freewheeling in neutral, adjustable pitch, and incredible stopping power in reverse. Max-Prop can literally bring a boat from 6 knots to a dead stop in a boat length. My installation required that the prop shaft be trimmed about 1/2 inch meaning that it could never again be used with a fixed prop; a critical concern to determine for your boat before undertaking...it is a marriage and divorce is always expensive. Consider this factor on any feathering/folding prop selection. As the blades rotate 180 degrees in ¾ turn of the shaft a feathering propeller has the same efficiency in reverse as in forward. ... ... a feathering propeller is a low drag propeller. When motoring, the blades swing to the ahead or astern angled position, but under sail they ‘feather’, turning parallel to the boss. Feathering propellers typically produce nearly as much forward thrust as folding propellers and more forward thrust than those that are fixed. They are also generally more efficient than folding propellers when going astern. Feathering props create about 5-10% of a fixed prop’s drag, sometimes less, while folding props have almost zero drag.

2.7 percent to $573 per 20-foot container (TEU) in the week ended on Friday. Freight rates for very large crude carriers (VLCCs) are set to rise further next week, fuelled by a raft of cargoes from West Africa and the Middle East. Rates for VLCCs from West Africa to China soared to W50 on Thursday against W43 on the same day last week.

Freight rates climb: Freight rates for very large crude carriers (VLCCs), which climbed to a nine-month high this week, are set to remain firm on tight tonnage supply and strong cargo volumes.

Freight rates hit the highest level: VLCC freight rates from the Middle East and West Africa to Asia hit their highest level since March 16 on March 22.

Firm freight rates stabilise: Freight rates out of the US Gulf have been firm in October, indicating that the balance, at least for now, is in favour of shipowners.

Pretrpjele pad: Asia to US West Coast container freight rates suffer biggest drop in six months.

When the contract cannot be completed or materialized without the fault of any party it is called frustration. (https://www.lawteacher.net/free-law-essays/contract-law/shipping-and-charter-party-contract-law-essay.php) frustration occurs whenever the law recognises that, without default of either party, a contractual obligation has become incapable of being performed because the circumstances in which performance is called for would render it a thing radically different from that which was undertaken by the contract. Non haec in foedera veni. It was not this that I promised to do. (https://www.steamshipmutual.com/publications/Articles/Kyla0613.htm) Frustration of contract under the carriage of goods by sea is concerned with the situation where, following the formation of a valid contract, an event occurs which is not the fault of either party but which has a significant impact on the obligations contained in the contract.

The second kind of frustration is that when any change has been brought in the law and as a result of this law the performance of the contract becomes unlawful and delay also causes frustration as a delay may result in not achieving the objectives of the contract.

gas cargo container (n) (cargo) spremnik za prijevoz plina gas carrier (n) (nav arch) ships especially designed ocean-going vessels that are dedicated for transporting all types of liquefied natural gases (LNG) and liquefied petroleum gases (LPG) to their destinations (https://www.marineinsight.com/types-of-ships/what-are-gas-carrier-ships/); Gas carriers carry gases like LPG, ammonia, butane propane etc. brod za prijevoz plina, plinski tanker: A fully pressurised gas carrier had just completed loading liquefied propane at an oil refinery. Capacity of a gas carriers depends on the trade for which it was constructed and ranges from 3,500 –150,000 m3. (https://www.marineinsight.com/types-of-ships/what-are-gas-carrier-ships/) gas cutting (=autogenous cutting) (n) (marine eng) the process of cutting metals by application of high temperature flame or torch produced by combination of two gases-oxygen and acetylene (https://www.marineinsight.com/tech/a-list-of-processes-used-in-marine-workshop-of-ship/)

gas detection (n) (cargo handling, nav arch) otkrivanje propuštanja plina gas detection system sustav za detekciju propuštanja plina, uređaj za detekciju propuštanja plina: Before departing the ship, the fumigator-in-charge briefed the chief officer, and issued him with two gas masks and some phosphine gas detection equipment. fixed gas detection fiksni sustav za detekciju propuštanja plina gas detector (safety) detektor plina: The master was carrying a walkie talkie as well as a personal gas detector (combined O and LEL) and the chief mate and pump man were standing on deck. portable gas detector prijenosni detektor plina, personal gas detector gas distribution block detector raznih vrsta plina

gas distribution block (n) (marine eng) razdjelnik plina: The gas distribution block effectuates the engine control system signal into a safe and correctly timed administration of fuel to the engine. www.man-es.com gases (n) (cargo) plinovi pod tlakom, ukapljeni ili otopljeni pod tlakom, plinovi gas-flow (n) (marine eng) strujanje plinova, odvod plinova: A nodular cast iron cylinder head was configured to achieve improved air and gas flow rates for the PA6B STC version. arrangement of gas-flow raspored odvoda plinova (iz komore izgaranja do dimnjaka) gas free (adj) (safety) bez plina gas free certificate A certificate issued by a chemist after sampling the air in a tanker's cargo tanks after the cargo has been pumped out. (www.euronav.com) gas freeing (n) (cargo handling) otplinjavanje tanka, oslobađanje tanka od plina: After gas freeing and one of the crew entering the tank, the leak was found and the hydraulic line repaired. commence gas freeing započeti otplinjavanje gas fuel (n) (marine eng, nav arch) plinsko gorivo gas-fuelled vessel (n) (nav arch) brod na plinski pogon, brod s pogonom na plinsko ulje LNG-fuelled vessel brod s pogonom na ukapljeni prirodni plin gash /gæʃ/ (n) (nav arch, safety) SEE indent udubina (na oplati broda), urezotina (na oplati broda): The collision left the tanker with a 30-foot gash in its hull. The collision caused a gash under the ship's waterline. The gash is above the waterline, and the ship is docked alongside in the port of repair. The collision resulted in a large gash on the starboard side of the tanker, causing it to take on water. tear a gash stvoriti porezotinu (na trupu broda), izazvati porezotinu (na trupu broda): The collision tore a gash below the ship's waterline.

gash (n) (med) posjekotina, dubok rez gas injection valve (=gas valve) (n) (marine eng) ventil za ubrizgavanje plina ventil za ubrizgavanje plina (na dual-fuel motoru): The high-pressure gas is distributed via a chain of double-walled pipes to each cylinder, where the gas enters the gas distribution block and finally the gas valves via the gas distribution channel in the cylinder cover. www.man-es.com When the gas injection valves are opened with hydraulic oil, a gas jet is injected into the combustion chamber. www.man-es.com gas jetty (n) (ports) gat za brodove za ukapljeni plin, vez za brodove za ukapljeni plin gasket /'gæskit/ (n) (seamanship) An elastic packing material used for making joints watertight.

https://officerofthewatch.com/tools/maritime-dictionary/ brtva, brtvilo, Italian: guarnizione: Ensure that gaskets and coamings are in good condition.
https://safety4sea.com/ rubber gasket gumena brtva: Wear to rubber door gaskets or improper handling may result in the doors no longer closing correctly, so that they are no longer sealed against rainwater and the like., door gasket brtva za vrata, head gasket brtva glave cilindra: A cylinder head with significantly increased safety factors is achieved with a wall supported by the head gasket, a thicker flame deck, optimized placement, larger exhaust seat ring cooling bores and smooth transition areas to avoid stress. The engine crew cooled down the main engine that evening and repaired a failed cylinder head gasket.  https://gcaptain.com gas leak (n) (safety, marine eng) propuštanje plina, curenje plina: The ignition heat source was a hot gas leak from around the “plenum seal”.

gas leakage (n) (safety, marine eng) propuštanje plina, curenje plina: A control bore is provided in the cylinder cover to enable possible gas leakage to be detected between the two parts of the cover.
gas locker (n) (sailing/boating/yachting) spreminik za plinsku bocu self-training gas locker spreminik plinske bocesamopražnjenjem gas meter (n) (cargo handling, safety) mjerilo plina: The most common type of gas meter employed on ships uses catalytic sensors to detect flammable gases (methane). https://safety4sea.com/gas mode (n) (marine eng, nav arch) COMPARE Diesel mode COMPARE fuel oil mode rad (stroja) na plinsko ulje, način rada na plinsko ulje, raditi u plinskog verziji / modusu: Maximum instant load steps in % of MCR in gas mode www.wartsila.com run in gas mode raditi na plin (o brodskom stroju): When running in gas mode, the engine instantly switches over to diesel operation if the gas feed is interrupted or component failure occurs.
gas oil (n) (marine eng) plinsko ulje (destilat između 230 i 425 stupnjeva C), lako dizelsko gorivo, vrlo laka nafta marine gas oil brodsko plinsko ulje, laka brodsko nafta: The ship was running at slow speed on one diesel generator, which was being supplied with marine gas oil (MGO) from one of two fuel oil service tanks.
gasoline engine (n) (US) (marine eng) = petrol engine benzinski motor gasoline; gasolene /gæsəliːn/ (n) (US) = petrol benzin gas piping (n) (marine eng) cjevovod plina gas port (n) (cargo handling, marine eng) odušnik plinova: Monitoring of the levels of oxygen, carbon monoxide and flammable gases (methane) via the gas ports is the method for assessing these hazards. https://safety4sea.com/gas supply (n) (marine eng) dovod plina, opskrba plinom gas supply pressure and temperature tlak i temperaturatvorba dostava plina (u LNG stroj): The requirements to gas supply-pressure and temperature are: – for the ME-GI engine: high-pressure gas at 300 bar, 45°C and – for the dual-fuel gensets: www.man-es.com gas-tight door (n) (nav arch, safety) plinotijesna vrata: Access to the modules was through a water and gas tight door which incorporated a viewing port.
gas-tight seal (n) (marine eng) plinotijesna brtva, plinonepropusna brtva: A piston ring is a spring tensioned ring set in grooves in the circumference of a piston that push out against the walls of the cylinder forming a gas tight seal.
gas turbine /ˈɡæs.tɜːbain/ (n) (marine eng) plinska turbina: A large catamaran was fitted with four gas turbine engines, two in each of the hulls. The main candidates for gas turbine propulsion in commercial shipping are cruise ships.
