

FUNDAMENTALS OF COLLECTION DEVELOPMENT AND MANAGEMENT

FIFTH EDITION

Peggy Johnson and Mary Beth Weber

CONTENTS

List of Figures ix

Preface to the Fifth Edition xi

Acknowledgments xv

1	Introduction to Collection Development and Management	1
	Components of Collection Development and Management	3
	Historical Overview	5
	Theories of Selection	29
	Future of Collection Development and Management	34
	Notes	35
	Suggested Readings	44

2	Organizational Models, Staffing, and Responsibilities	47
	Collection Management and Development Responsibilities	47
	Assignment of Responsibilities	51
	Learning after School	62
	Performance Evaluation	64
	Organizational Models	68
	Ethical Issues	71
	Case Study	84
	Notes	85
	Suggested Readings	91

3	Planning, Policy, and Budgets	93
	Planning in Libraries	93
	Planning Models	95
	Environmental Scanning	97
	Why Undertake Formal Planning?	100
	Collection Development Policy Statements	101
	Writing the Collection Development Policy Statement	108
	Budgeting and Finance	117
	Case Study	133
	Notes	134
	Suggested Readings	140

4	Developing Collections	143
	The Universe of Published Materials	143
	The Selection Process	145
	Case Study	182
	Notes	183
	Suggested Readings	192
5	Vendor Relations, Negotiation, and Contracts	197
	Overview	197
	Vendor Relations	198
	Negotiation	200
	Contracts	210
	Case Study	229
	Notes	229
	Suggested Readings	235
6	Managing Collections	237
	Weeding	237
	Storage	250
	Preservation and Conservation	254
	Review and Cancellation of Continuing Resources	264
	Collection Protection and Security	268
	Case Study	272
	Notes	272
	Suggested Readings	282
7	Marketing, Liaison Activities, and Outreach	285
	Understanding Marketing	285
	Marketing Concepts	289
	Managing the Marketing Cycle	295
	Liaison and Outreach Activities	307
	Social Media	314
	Case Study	318
	Notes	319
	Suggested Readings	325
8	Collection Analysis, Accountability, and Demonstrating Value	327
	Collection Analysis as a Management Tool	327
	Historical Overview of Collection Analysis	331
	Approaches to Collection Analysis	334
	Electronic Resources and Collection Analysis	337

Collection-Based Analysis Methods	339
Use- and User-Centered Analysis Methods	347
Cost-Benefit Analysis, Social Return on Investment, and Balanced Scorecards	355
Conducting the Analysis and Preparing a Collection Analysis Report	358
Case Study	360
Notes	361
Suggested Readings	368

9 Collaborative Collection Development and Management	371
Overview	371
Resource Sharing	373
Bibliographic Access	380
Coordinated or Collaborative Collection Building and Management	381
Infrastructures for Cooperative and Collaborative Collection Development and Management	397
Attributes of Successful Consortia	401
Challenges to Collaborative Collection Development and Management	402
Evaluating Collaborative and Cooperative Collection Development and Management	404
Case Study	404
Notes	405
Suggested Readings	412

Appendixes

Appendix A: Professional Resources for Collection Development and Management	415
---	------------

Appendix B: Selection Aids	421
-----------------------------------	------------

About the Authors	427
--------------------------	------------

Index	429
--------------	------------

Supplementary materials can be found online at alaeditions.org/webextras.

Materials include:

- Glossary
- Suggested Readings Lists from fourth and fifth editions
- Case Studies from fourth and fifth editions