

ERASMUS+ REFRIGERATING CONTAINER SYSTEMS

It is a selective course for graduation level marine engineering students.

Course description

2

- Aim of the course is to explain refrigerating container systems applied today. Some technological novelties are explained.
-

Student obligations

3

- Since, only few students select this course, there aren't regular lessons on a weekly basis. On student demand one 3 – 4 hours lectures is given.
 - Student has one written exam with multiple choice type of question.
-